Meals deliver extra security for those at highest risk

“I thought this was the year I was going to get my life back,” says Rudolph Hutchins.

Rudolph had a successful kidney transplant in the summer of 2019 and he was feeling healthy for the first time in years. To help with his recovery, he signed up for Meals on Wheels.

The meals helped him regain strength after his transplant. Then the pandemic hit and he found himself at very high risk from complications should he contract COVID-19.

Rudolph, 62, was hoping that he could resume working and re-establish a more active social life after 13 years on disability, but instead, he’s been on a strict quarantine in his south Minneapolis apartment. Prior to getting sick, Rudolph worked in the healthcare field where he specialized in sterilizing medical instruments.

He followed that career path after spending time in the military as a combat demolition expert. He’s lived in south Minneapolis since moving here in 1985 after leaving his childhood home of Chicago.

“I made this my home and I like it here,” Rudolph says. “Now I’m just home, staying safe and surviving and protecting the kidney.”

If it weren’t for Meals on Wheels, Rudolph said he would have trouble getting the food he needs to stay healthy. When he told TRUST Meals on Wheels Program Director Eleonore Balbach about his situation, she was also able to arrange for extra grocery delivery from volunteers.

A word on our Annual Report

Patrick Rowan, Executive Director

This time of year, we share our Annual Report with our supporters for our past fiscal year, which ended in March. Needless to say, a lot has changed since March.

We invite you to take a look inside to see what you helped us accomplish last year. Thanks to you, we were able to lay the groundwork for a massive COVID-19 response to get food to people affected by the pandemic that began in March and is still ongoing.

Since then, many of you have stepped up with additional donations of both your time and money to keep that effort going. Along with our annual report, on the next page you’ll find an update on what you’ve accomplished since the pandemic began.

Thank you for doing your part to keep seniors in our community healthy during this difficult time!

Rudolph Hutchins

COVID-19 Relief Fund helps those on the margins

Twin Cities Meals on Wheels programs have always done everything they can to serve anyone in need. With programs serving 2.5 times the number of people they had at this time last year, the financial and physical resources needed to make that happen have grown rapidly.

Many of those new recipients don't qualify for state and federal programs that help cover the cost of meals, yet don't have the resources to pay for meals. With the support of the community, Twin Cities Meals on Wheels programs have been able to keep up with that demand so far.

"It's filling the gap for people in our community who are really on the margin," says Steve Griffiths, executive director for Impact Services Meals on Wheels in Anoka County. "It's helped meet an unrealized need in the community."

"We've had a quite a few people start up that need the food and have no other way of paying for it,"

said Eleonore Balbach, executive director of TRUST Meals on Wheels in South Minneapolis. "They have health issues that make them not want to go out or they've lost their job, or both."

Fortunately, our community has stepped up in a big way through individual donations, grants from foundations and corporations and a number of COVID Relief programs through the federal Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act. Those funds have provided assistance for meals for people in need, and things like storage freezers, cleaning supplies, masks and sanitizer for volunteers as well and an additional delivery vehicle to get meals from our kitchen to delivery sites.

Through August, Twin Cities Meals on Wheels programs had served 120,648 relief meals, which also includes meals served to the East African community through a temporary partnership with Afro Deli restaurant. The cost of keeping up with COVID-induced demand for our network was $310,832. We are currently estimating that a minimum of $50,000 per month will be needed to ensure service for everyone who needs meals for as long as the pandemic poses a threat.

"The reality is COVID-19 is not going away. It's going to be more difficult as we get into worse weather and I think people are going to be more scared to go out," said Griffiths.

"And the meal is not just the meal. Having that eye contact that comes along with the meal relieves some of the social isolation that comes along with the pandemic as well."

If you or anyone you know is unable to access food during the pandemic, please do not hesitate to sign up for meals at meals-on-wheels.com. Funding through the CARES Act is helping us serve anyone age 18 and over through Dec. 31 and we want to ensure that all who need this service are taken care of.

"They sort of took me under their wing and adopted me in a sense," Rudolph says, adding that both the conversations he's had over the phone and at a distance with volunteers have really helped him during a time of isolation.

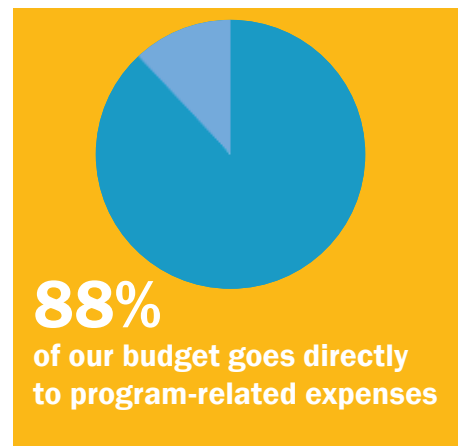

"It's day by day," he says. "I don't have a lot of money but what I have is getting me through. I'm getting better and better and stronger and stronger. I definitely have faith now that I got that kidney and Meals on Wheels."

Virtual Walk to End Hunger gives families a way to connect while giving back on Thanksgiving

Meals on Wheels will once again be a part of the Walk to End Hunger, but this year the event will be experienced from the comfort of our own homes. We hope that you'll join us and eight other nonprofits focused on fighting hunger in Minnesota for the Virtual Walk to End Hunger.

The family-friendly event will feature a virtual program that includes special guests appearances by local celebrities and chefs focusing on how we can help our neighbors now, and rebuild for the future at a time of where so many are struggling with hunger. There will also be a half hour of kid-focused programming featuring art projects, music and some physical activities.

Participants can also donate or raise money for their favorite organization. Learn how you can participate on behalf of Meals on Wheels at meals-on-wheels.com/walk.

Save the Date for Give to the Max Day

The generosity of Minnesotans will again be on display this November with the 12th Annual Give to the Max Day scheduled for Nov. 19. The local philanthropic community is offering more than $100,000 in prizes for people who donate to their favorite nonprofits and we'd be honored if you made Meals on Wheels a part of your giving plan. Schedule your donation beginning Nov. 1 at bit.ly/givemeals.
